

Variable Extrude

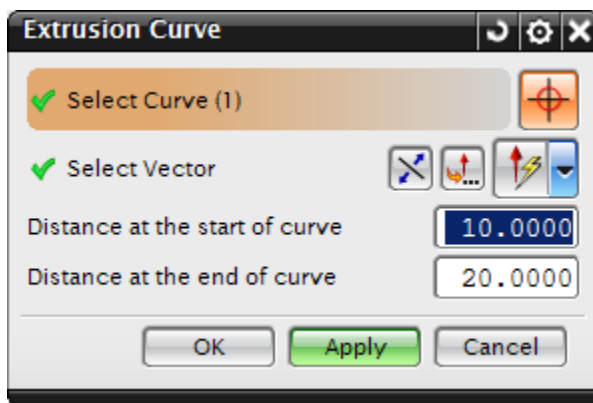

Summary

The function is similar to regular Extrude, except that you can enter two distances – one for the start of the base curve, and a different one for the end. So, the extrusion length varies as you move along the base curve.

The shape will mate properly with adjoining fixed-length extrusions (the regular ones), so you can use it for transitions.

User Interface

The user interface is created using a BlockForm:

Sample Output

